

Middlebury College Applicant Portal | Visiting Professor ...

middlebury.peopleadmin.com

Visiting Professor in International Education Management. Below you will find the details for the position including any supplementary documentation and questions you ...

---

General Responsibilities:

As a visiting professor, the selected candidate's primary responsibility would be teaching graduate courses within the IEM program.

1) They will be responsible for courses, such as:

- International Education Marketing and Recruiting
- International Education Program Design and Assessment
- Budgeting in Educational Organizations
- 1 additional international education core course, depending on candidate's scholarship/experience
- 1 elective course from current list or new proposal to augment current offerings

2) Serve as an academic and professional mentor to students, being available to discuss students' career goals, and utilizing his/her professional networks to help students make contacts with potential partners, practicum host sites, and employers.

3) Contribute to the program and campus community through participation in IEM and MIIS events such as orientation, commencement, receptions, and faculty meetings.

Qualifications:

- Master's degree required. Doctorate preferred.
- Extensive experience as an international education practitioner (minimum 10 years desired), including significant professional experience managing staff and leading international education programs.
- Teaching ability, as evidenced by appropriate references, student evaluations, and recommendation of peers. MIIS employs active, experiential, adult learning strategies in the classroom. Many of the classes in this degree program are project-based, where students complete project work with external partners in the field to apply skills and gain professional practice.
- Collaborative spirit as faculty in this program often collaborate across courses and work together to enhance teaching and learning experiences.
- Personal attributes such as integrity, initiative, breadth and focus of intellectual interest, and willingness to advise and assist students and participate in Institute activities.

To apply:

Please submit a cover letter, CV, and evidence of teaching ability through the online portal:

<https://middlebury.peopleadmin.com/postings/16826>